Dear Shannon Carr:

No More, No Más, Inc. (NMNM) is pleased to be invited to partner with First Baptist Church NBC, who has been a community base organization sharing the role and taking responsibility to help close food equity gaps and providing life coach counseling to sustain individuals and families during a pandemic.

NMNM applauds you for sustaining families with a food distribution system that you have been operating for several years, with in-kind contributions and donations from faith communities near and far. Your service mission to empower the underserved, low-income individuals, and families with your service model, helps to eliminate “food desert” conditions and other disparities identified by a disappearing social service safety net in many of our cities.

NMNM has been providing education and counseling services to underserved, disadvantaged populations within a 100-mile radius surrounding Travis County for over 11 years. Our evidence-based programming will enable your organization to provide therapeutic counseling to improve optimum mental status and better recovery from all trauma induced instances, whether they are caused by natural disasters to general conflicts that arise within the home.

No More, No Más, Inc. has been successfully run grief/loss support groups, addiction recovery groups, Al anon Groups for teens, support groups for teen parents, with one focus in mind, which is to deliver a prevention model that is sustaining and accessible for anyone who desires to participate.

Sincerely,

Reverend Lea Walker-Clark
